Multiculturalism Matters in this Election

MCoS encourages you to advocate for multiculturalism. Specifically, you can raise the awareness of candidates in your riding that issues related to multiculturalism are important to you and that you make voting decisions at least in part by considering how platforms reflect multicultural values.

MCoS has outlined four multicultural values that inform our five streams of multicultural work. The Saskatchewan Multiculturalism Act \(1997\) and the Canadian Multiculturalism Act \(1985\) support these values and streams. Please consider this information when asking questions during this election campaign.

Questions you could ask candidates:

1. If elected, how will you support cultural diversity in meaningful ways?
2. Do you recognize that there are issues of racism in our communities? What actions do you plan to undertake to address them?
3. How will you support building bridges between cultures?
4. What actions would you take to make this community welcoming and inclusive for all, including for newcomers and Indigenous people?
